

FOOTHILL THEATRE ARTS PRESENTS
ABSURDIST COMEDY
RHINOCEROS

By Eugene Ionesco
Directed by Bruce McLeod
May 23 - June 8, 2025
Lohman Theatre, Los Altos Hills

LOS ALTOS HILLS, CA (12 May 2025) – Multi-award-winning Foothill Theatre Arts presents Eugene Ionesco's absurdist comedy Rhinoceros, in which a sleepy town is overrun - literally - by a stampede of conformity. Director Bruce McLeod, who has previously helmed Angels in America, The Resistible Rise of Arturo Ui, Antigone, and It Can't Happen Here at Foothill, returns with another timely work. This one-act comedy explores what happens when everyone in town turns into a rhinoceros. As neighbors, friends, and co-workers transform into horned beasts, one person must decide whether to follow the herd, or stand alone. Equal parts hilarious and haunting, Rhinoceros is a wildly imaginative exploration of identity, peer pressure, and the power of one voice in a crowd of chaos. Rhinoceros performs three weeks only May 23 - June 8, 2025 (press opening: Friday, May 23) at the Lohman Theatre, 12345 El Monte Road, Los Altos Hills. Tickets ($5 - $20) and information are available at www.foothill.edu/theatre or by calling (650) 949-7360.

Rhinoceros received a 10-minute standing ovation when it premiered in Dusseldorf, Germany in 1959. It has since played in Paris, London, New York, and around the world in dozens of languages, and was adapted into a 1974 American film starring Gene Wilder and Zero Mostel. A recent (Jan. 2025) article in the Hollywood Progressive notes, " 'Rhinoceros' remains a play for our time—perhaps more so than ever—serving as both a warning and a goad to a nation in political crisis."

The play was originally written as a reflection on the rapid rise of fascism in Ionesco's native Romania during the 1930's, when the young writer noticed people from all walks of life, including intellectuals, becoming attracted to the ascending fascist party and eventually being "caught in the mechanism, accepting everything, becoming a rhinoceros." Ionesco later famously said, "We will never understand totalitarianism if we do not understand that people rarely have the strength to be uncommon." Ionesco's play sets the action in "today," his reminder that while the story is a historical accounting of his world in the 1930's, it could happen anywhere.

Foothill Theatre Arts has assembled a powerhouse cast for this entertaining thought-provoking drama including professionals drawn from the greater Bay Area, as well as students from Foothill College. The cast includes: Caitie Clancy (Berenger), Lian Malla (John), Adam Hogsett (Bedard), Daniel Spiteri, Sr. (Corey), Trinity White (Angel), Tiffany Walters (Papillon), Elizaveta Azrapkina (Waitress), Sema Bayla (Housewife), Nicola Barcelona (Mrs. Boef), Johnny Chen (Boss), Alejandro Contreras (Logician), Alejandro Flores (Gentleman), Vasim Jamil (Shopkeeper), Jaden Moody (Fireman).

Director Bruce McLeod joined the Foothill College Theatre Arts department in 2007 for the opening of the Lohman Theatre and served as head of the Theatre Technology Program and as the department's Production Manager and Technical Director, until his retirement from full time teaching in 2022. He has worked professionally at many regional theatres including the Oregon Shakespeare Festival and was the first Technical director and Production Manager for TheatreWorks, where he oversaw many main stage shows, as well as site-specific productions of Cabaret (downtown Fire Station, now Avenidas), Macbeth (Baylands Nature Center) and Everyman (various churches). He also boasts a long career as a set and lighting designer in the Bay Area including work with Center Rep, West Bay Opera, Magic Theatre, Eureka Theatre, and TheatreWorks. Several of his set designs have received recognition, including the Bay Area Theatre Critics Circle Award for Sunday in the Park with George and a Theatre Bay Area nomination for the recent Marry Me A Little at TheatreWorks. At Foothill he has directed critically acclaimed productions of Rosencrantz and Guildenstern are Dead, Angels in America: Millennium Approaches, Our Town, It Can't Happen Here, She Kills Monsters, The Resistible Rise of Arturo Ui, and Antigone.

For Calendar Editors:

WHAT: Multi-award-winning Foothill Theatre Arts presents Eugene Ionesco's absurdist comedy Rhinoceros, in which a sleepy town is overrun - literally - by a stampede of conformity. This salient comedy explores what happens when everyone in town turns into a rhinoceros. As neighbors, friends, and co-workers transform into horned beasts, one person must decide whether to follow the herd, or stand alone. Equal parts hilarious and haunting, Rhinoceros is a wildly imaginative exploration of identity, peer pressure, and the power of one voice in a crowd of chaos.

WHEN: May 23 - June 8, 2025
Press opening: 8pm, Friday, May 23

DAYS/TIMES: Fridays/Saturdays, 8 pm
Thursdays, May 29 & 30, 7:30 pm

FOOTHILL THEATRE ARTS PRESENTS
ABSURDIST COMEDY
RHINOCEROS

By Eugene Ionesco
Directed by Bruce McLeod
May 23 - June 8, 2025
Lohman Theatre, Los Altos Hills

LOS ALTOS HILLS, CA (12 May 2025) – Multi-award-winning Foothill Theatre Arts presents Eugene Ionesco's absurdist comedy Rhinoceros, in which a sleepy town is overrun - literally - by a stampede of conformity. Director Bruce McLeod, who has previously helmed Angels in America, The Resistible Rise of Arturo Ui, Antigone, and It Can't Happen Here at Foothill, returns with another timely work. This one-act comedy explores what happens when everyone in town turns into a rhinoceros. As neighbors, friends, and co-workers transform into horned beasts, one person must decide whether to follow the herd, or stand alone. Equal parts hilarious and haunting, Rhinoceros is a wildly imaginative exploration of identity, peer pressure, and the power of one voice in a crowd of chaos. Rhinoceros performs three weeks only May 23 - June 8, 2025 (press opening: Friday, May 23) at the Lohman Theatre, 12345 El Monte Road, Los Altos Hills. Tickets ($5 - $20) and information are available at www.foothill.edu/theatre or by calling (650) 949-7360.

Rhinoceros received a 10-minute standing ovation when it premiered in Dusseldorf, Germany in 1959. It has since played in Paris, London, New York, and around the world in dozens of languages, and was adapted into a 1974 American film starring Gene Wilder and Zero Mostel. A recent (Jan. 2025) article in the Hollywood Progressive notes, " 'Rhinoceros' remains a play for our time—perhaps more so than ever—serving as both a warning and a goad to a nation in political crisis."

The play was originally written as a reflection on the rapid rise of fascism in Ionesco's native Romania during the 1930's, when the young writer noticed people from all walks of life, including intellectuals, becoming attracted to the ascending fascist party and eventually being "caught in the mechanism, accepting everything, becoming a rhinoceros." Ionesco later famously said, "We will never understand totalitarianism if we do not understand that people rarely have the strength to be uncommon." Ionesco's play sets the action in "today," his reminder that while the story is a historical accounting of his world in the 1930's, it could happen anywhere.

Foothill Theatre Arts has assembled a powerhouse cast for this entertaining thought-provoking drama including professionals drawn from the greater Bay Area, as well as students from Foothill College. The cast includes: Caitie Clancy (Berenger), Lian Malla (John), Adam Hogsett (Bedard), Daniel Spiteri, Sr. (Corey), Trinity White (Angel), Tiffany Walters (Papillon), Elizaveta Azrapkina (Waitress), Sema Bayla (Housewife), Nicola Barcelona (Mrs. Boef), Johnny Chen (Boss), Alejandro Contreras (Logician), Alejandro Flores (Gentleman), Vasim Jamil (Shopkeeper), Jaden Moody (Fireman).

Director Bruce McLeod joined the Foothill College Theatre Arts department in 2007 for the opening of the Lohman Theatre and served as head of the Theatre Technology Program and as the department's Production Manager and Technical Director, until his retirement from full time teaching in 2022. He has worked professionally at many regional theatres including the Oregon Shakespeare Festival and was the first Technical director and Production Manager for TheatreWorks, where he oversaw many main stage shows, as well as site-specific productions of Cabaret (downtown Fire Station, now Avenidas), Macbeth (Baylands Nature Center) and Everyman (various churches). He also boasts a long career as a set and lighting designer in the Bay Area including work with Center Rep, West Bay Opera, Magic Theatre, Eureka Theatre, and TheatreWorks. Several of his set designs have received recognition, including the Bay Area Theatre Critics Circle Award for Sunday in the Park with George and a Theatre Bay Area nomination for the recent Marry Me A Little at TheatreWorks. At Foothill he has directed critically acclaimed productions of Rosencrantz and Guildenstern are Dead, Angels in America: Millennium Approaches, Our Town, It Can't Happen Here, She Kills Monsters, The Resistible Rise of Arturo Ui, and Antigone.

For Calendar Editors:

WHAT: Multi-award-winning Foothill Theatre Arts presents Eugene Ionesco's absurdist comedy Rhinoceros, in which a sleepy town is overrun - literally - by a stampede of conformity. This salient comedy explores what happens when everyone in town turns into a rhinoceros. As neighbors, friends, and co-workers transform into horned beasts, one person must decide whether to follow the herd, or stand alone. Equal parts hilarious and haunting, Rhinoceros is a wildly imaginative exploration of identity, peer pressure, and the power of one voice in a crowd of chaos.

WHEN: May 23 - June 8, 2025
Press opening: 8pm, Friday, May 23

DAYS/TIMES: Fridays/Saturdays, 8 pm
Thursdays, May 29 & 30, 7:30 pm

FOOTHILL THEATRE ARTS PRESENTS
ABSURDIST COMEDY
RHINOCEROS

By Eugene Ionesco
Directed by Bruce McLeod
May 23 - June 8, 2025
Lohman Theatre, Los Altos Hills

LOS ALTOS HILLS, CA (12 May 2025) – Multi-award-winning Foothill Theatre Arts presents Eugene Ionesco's absurdist comedy Rhinoceros, in which a sleepy town is overrun - literally - by a stampede of conformity. Director Bruce McLeod, who has previously helmed Angels in America, The Resistible Rise of Arturo Ui, Antigone, and It Can't Happen Here at Foothill, returns with another timely work. This one-act comedy explores what happens when everyone in town turns into a rhinoceros. As neighbors, friends, and co-workers transform into horned beasts, one person must decide whether to follow the herd, or stand alone. Equal parts hilarious and haunting, Rhinoceros is a wildly imaginative exploration of identity, peer pressure, and the power of one voice in a crowd of chaos. Rhinoceros performs three weeks only May 23 - June 8, 2025 (press opening: Friday, May 23) at the Lohman Theatre, 12345 El Monte Road, Los Altos Hills. Tickets ($5 - $20) and information are available at www.foothill.edu/theatre or by calling (650) 949-7360.

Rhinoceros received a 10-minute standing ovation when it premiered in Dusseldorf, Germany in 1959. It has since played in Paris, London, New York, and around the world in dozens of languages, and was adapted into a 1974 American film starring Gene Wilder and Zero Mostel. A recent (Jan. 2025) article in the Hollywood Progressive notes, " 'Rhinoceros' remains a play for our time—perhaps more so than ever—serving as both a warning and a goad to a nation in political crisis."

The play was originally written as a reflection on the rapid rise of fascism in Ionesco's native Romania during the 1930's, when the young writer noticed people from all walks of life, including intellectuals, becoming attracted to the ascending fascist party and eventually being "caught in the mechanism, accepting everything, becoming a rhinoceros." Ionesco later famously said, "We will never understand totalitarianism if we do not understand that people rarely have the strength to be uncommon." Ionesco's play sets the action in "today," his reminder that while the story is a historical accounting of his world in the 1930's, it could happen anywhere.

Foothill Theatre Arts has assembled a powerhouse cast for this entertaining thought-provoking drama including professionals drawn from the greater Bay Area, as well as students from Foothill College. The cast includes: Caitie Clancy (Berenger), Lian Malla (John), Adam Hogsett (Bedard), Daniel Spiteri, Sr. (Corey), Trinity White (Angel), Tiffany Walters (Papillon), Elizaveta Azrapkina (Waitress), Sema Bayla (Housewife), Nicola Barcelona (Mrs. Boef), Johnny Chen (Boss), Alejandro Contreras (Logician), Alejandro Flores (Gentleman), Vasim Jamil (Shopkeeper), Jaden Moody (Fireman).

Director Bruce McLeod joined the Foothill College Theatre Arts department in 2007 for the opening of the Lohman Theatre and served as head of the Theatre Technology Program and as the department's Production Manager and Technical Director, until his retirement from full time teaching in 2022. He has worked professionally at many regional theatres including the Oregon Shakespeare Festival and was the first Technical director and Production Manager for TheatreWorks, where he oversaw many main stage shows, as well as site-specific productions of Cabaret (downtown Fire Station, now Avenidas), Macbeth (Baylands Nature Center) and Everyman (various churches). He also boasts a long career as a set and lighting designer in the Bay Area including work with Center Rep, West Bay Opera, Magic Theatre, Eureka Theatre, and TheatreWorks. Several of his set designs have received recognition, including the Bay Area Theatre Critics Circle Award for Sunday in the Park with George and a Theatre Bay Area nomination for the recent Marry Me A Little at TheatreWorks. At Foothill he has directed critically acclaimed productions of Rosencrantz and Guildenstern are Dead, Angels in America: Millennium Approaches, Our Town, It Can't Happen Here, She Kills Monsters, The Resistible Rise of Arturo Ui, and Antigone.

For Calendar Editors:

WHAT: Multi-award-winning Foothill Theatre Arts presents Eugene Ionesco's absurdist comedy Rhinoceros, in which a sleepy town is overrun - literally - by a stampede of conformity. This salient comedy explores what happens when everyone in town turns into a rhinoceros. As neighbors, friends, and co-workers transform into horned beasts, one person must decide whether to follow the herd, or stand alone. Equal parts hilarious and haunting, Rhinoceros is a wildly imaginative exploration of identity, peer pressure, and the power of one voice in a crowd of chaos.

WHEN: May 23 - June 8, 2025
Press opening: 8pm, Friday, May 23

DAYS/TIMES: Fridays/Saturdays, 8 pm
Thursdays, May 29 & 30, 7:30 pm

FOOTHILL THEATRE ARTS PRESENTS
ABSURDIST COMEDY
RHINOCEROS

By Eugene Ionesco
Directed by Bruce McLeod
May 23 - June 8, 2025
Lohman Theatre, Los Altos Hills

LOS ALTOS HILLS, CA (12 May 2025) – Multi-award-winning Foothill Theatre Arts presents Eugene Ionesco's absurdist comedy Rhinoceros, in which a sleepy town is overrun - literally - by a stampede of conformity. Director Bruce McLeod, who has previously helmed Angels in America, The Resistible Rise of Arturo Ui, Antigone, and It Can't Happen Here at Foothill, returns with another timely work. This one-act comedy explores what happens when everyone in town turns into a rhinoceros. As neighbors, friends, and co-workers transform into horned beasts, one person must decide whether to follow the herd, or stand alone. Equal parts hilarious and haunting, Rhinoceros is a wildly imaginative exploration of identity, peer pressure, and the power of one voice in a crowd of chaos. Rhinoceros performs three weeks only May 23 - June 8, 2025 (press opening: Friday, May 23) at the Lohman Theatre, 12345 El Monte Road, Los Altos Hills. Tickets ($5 - $20) and information are available at www.foothill.edu/theatre or by calling (650) 949-7360.

Rhinoceros received a 10-minute standing ovation when it premiered in Dusseldorf, Germany in 1959. It has since played in Paris, London, New York, and around the world in dozens of languages, and was adapted into a 1974 American film starring Gene Wilder and Zero Mostel. A recent (Jan. 2025) article in the Hollywood Progressive notes, " 'Rhinoceros' remains a play for our time—perhaps more so than ever—serving as both a warning and a goad to a nation in political crisis."

The play was originally written as a reflection on the rapid rise of fascism in Ionesco's native Romania during the 1930's, when the young writer noticed people from all walks of life, including intellectuals, becoming attracted to the ascending fascist party and eventually being "caught in the mechanism, accepting everything, becoming a rhinoceros." Ionesco later famously said, "We will never understand totalitarianism if we do not understand that people rarely have the strength to be uncommon." Ionesco's play sets the action in "today," his reminder that while the story is a historical accounting of his world in the 1930's, it could happen anywhere.

Foothill Theatre Arts has assembled a powerhouse cast for this entertaining thought-provoking drama including professionals drawn from the greater Bay Area, as well as students from Foothill College. The cast includes: Caitie Clancy (Berenger), Lian Malla (John), Adam Hogsett (Bedard), Daniel Spiteri, Sr. (Corey), Trinity White (Angel), Tiffany Walters (Papillon), Elizaveta Azrapkina (Waitress), Sema Bayla (Housewife), Nicola Barcelona (Mrs. Boef), Johnny Chen (Boss), Alejandro Contreras (Logician), Alejandro Flores (Gentleman), Vasim Jamil (Shopkeeper), Jaden Moody (Fireman).

Director Bruce McLeod joined the Foothill College Theatre Arts department in 2007 for the opening of the Lohman Theatre and served as head of the Theatre Technology Program and as the department's Production Manager and Technical Director, until his retirement from full time teaching in 2022. He has worked professionally at many regional theatres including the Oregon Shakespeare Festival and was the first Technical director and Production Manager for TheatreWorks, where he oversaw many main stage shows, as well as site-specific productions of Cabaret (downtown Fire Station, now Avenidas), Macbeth (Baylands Nature Center) and Everyman (various churches). He also boasts a long career as a set and lighting designer in the Bay Area including work with Center Rep, West Bay Opera, Magic Theatre, Eureka Theatre, and TheatreWorks. Several of his set designs have received recognition, including the Bay Area Theatre Critics Circle Award for Sunday in the Park with George and a Theatre Bay Area nomination for the recent Marry Me A Little at TheatreWorks. At Foothill he has directed critically acclaimed productions of Rosencrantz and Guildenstern are Dead, Angels in America: Millennium Approaches, Our Town, It Can't Happen Here, She Kills Monsters, The Resistible Rise of Arturo Ui, and Antigone.

For Calendar Editors:

WHAT: Multi-award-winning Foothill Theatre Arts presents Eugene Ionesco's absurdist comedy Rhinoceros, in which a sleepy town is overrun - literally - by a stampede of conformity. This salient comedy explores what happens when everyone in town turns into a rhinoceros. As neighbors, friends, and co-workers transform into horned beasts, one person must decide whether to follow the herd, or stand alone. Equal parts hilarious and haunting, Rhinoceros is a wildly imaginative exploration of identity, peer pressure, and the power of one voice in a crowd of chaos.

WHEN: May 23 - June 8, 2025
Press opening: 8pm, Friday, May 23

DAYS/TIMES: Fridays/Saturdays, 8 pm
Thursdays, May 29 & 30, 7:30 pm